APPENDIX A7

SOME SIGNS AND SYMPTOMS OF CHILD ABUSE

(Distribute to all volunteers with the application for their reference)

I. What is Child Abuse?

Although the definition of child abuse is broad, the following is offered as a guide. Child abuse consists of any act of commission or omission that endangers or impairs a child's physical or emotional health and development. Child abuse includes any damage done to a child which cannot be reasonably explained, and which is often represented by an injury or series of injuries appearing to be non-accidental in nature.

II. The Major Forms of Child Abuse Are:

- Physical abuse, including neglect or lack of adequate supervision
- Emotional abuse or deprivation
- Sexual abuse

III. Who Inflicts the Abuse?

Child abusers are found among all socio-economic, religious, and ethnic groups and are most often ordinary people who are not strangers to the child or the child's family.

A child abuser is usually a person closely related to the child such as a parent, step-parent, or other caretaker, or someone whom the child trusts, such as a family friend, a minister or religious leader, social worker, coach, or counselor.

IV. How Can I Identify Child Abuse?

It is important to remember that child abuse is not usually a single act, but a repeated pattern of behavior. This is true of all types of abuse, physical, emotional, and sexual. The following symptoms are offered as general guidelines to help you identify an abused child.

A. Physical Abuse

Signs to watch for include:

- Bruises or welts appearing on the body, especially those which reveal the shape of some object used to produce them, e.g., sticks, belts, buckles, electrical cords, a hairbrush, etc.
- Bruises which are unexplained or located on parts of the body which usually do not get bruised in the bumps and falls that occur in a child's everyday living. It is normal for a child to get bruises on his shins, knees, elbows, or forehead occasionally. It is suspect for a child to be bruised on the eyes, mouth, back, buttocks, genital areas, thighs, or calves

SOME SIGNS AND SYMPTOMS OF CHILD ABUSE

- Small circular burns appearing on face, arms, hands, buttocks, or soles of feet that may have been inflicted by a cigar or cigarette.
- Burns with a “sock” or “glove-like” appearance on hands or feet and “doughnut” shaped burns on the buttocks. These types of burns are usually caused by either dipping or forcing the child to sit in scalding liquid.
- Burns that leave a pattern outlining the object which was used to make the burn such as an iron, electric burner, heater, or fireplace tool.
- Burns caused by rope friction, usually found on legs, arms, neck or torso as the result of having been tied up.
- Unexplained fractures to nose, face, ribs, legs, or other parts of the body.
- Injuries in various stages of healing which appear in a regular pattern or are grouped together.
- Other types of abrasions or lacerations appearing on the body, which have no apparent reasonable explanation.
- Human bite marks, especially those that are adult sized.

B. Physical Neglect

Signs to watch for include:

- Child continually hungry.
- Consistent lack of cleanliness or an intense obsession with cleanliness.
- Clothing not suitable to weather conditions.
- Evidence that the child’s physical and medical needs are not being met.
- Lack of supervision especially in dangerous situations or while participating in activities which extend over long periods of times.
- Behavior that does not appear “normal,” e.g., severe anxiety around other children or adults, anti-social behavior in the form of hostile aggression, or withdrawn behavior accompanied by depression.

C. Emotional Abuse and Deprivation

The negative effects of emotional abuse can be just as devastating to a child’s development emotionally, intellectually, and behaviorally as are the injuries sustained by physical abuse. Most physical abuse is accompanied by emotional abuse as well. Although this type of abuse is often more difficult to recognize and identify, an adult who is observant and pays close attention to a child will soon develop the ability to recognize troubling signs.

SOME SIGNS AND SYMPTOMS OF CHILD ABUSE

Signs to watch for include:

- Behavior which indicates apathy or depression.
- Behavior which is anti-social and hostile in nature.
- Loss of appetite, refusal to eat, and/or overeating as a source of comfort or substitute for being loved.

D. Sexual Abuse

Sexual exploitation, molestation, and incest are additional devastating types of child abuse. The societal taboos surrounding this type of abuse make some communities reluctant to acknowledge the existence of this form of abuse, and this in turn, makes it more difficult for children to report it.

The nature of sexual abuse makes it difficult to observe and therefore often more difficult to report. The guidelines given here for the detection of sexual abuse are by no means comprehensive. Symptoms given here may exist singly or in various combinations. It is essential to remember that this form of abuse makes the child a victim. Those children who seek help are often accused of lying, as adults usually do not want to believe them. In addition, the victim of sexual abuse is most often pressured into secrecy about the sexual activity by the abuser, leaving the child feeling helpless and guilty because of her behavior with no place to turn for help and no acceptable way out.

Signs to watch for include:

- Child expresses or implies involvement in sexual activity with parent, another adult, or older child.
- Child's clothing appears stained, torn, or bloody.
- Child reports pain, itching, bruises, or bleeding in the genital area.
- Child has been diagnosed as having venereal disease of eyes, mouth, genitalia and/or anus.
- An unwanted pregnancy occurs, and the victim is hesitant to reveal partner.
- Child expresses the presence of severe emotional conflict at home but is fearful of intervention.
- Child demonstrates withdrawn behavior, refuses to participate or dress appropriately for physical activities, and/or appears to spend extended periods of time in a fantasy world.
- A young child demonstrates an exaggerated knowledge of or interest in adult sexual behavior evidenced by either seductive actions and conversations or shows fear of intimate contact with others.
- A child is known to be the victim of other forms of abuse by parent(s).

It is important to remember when children report information related to sexual topics or suspicious activities, they need to be believed. It may be a cry for help.
